

Georgios Kertsopoulos is a Greek-Canadian inventor, author, researcher, guitar soloist, luthier and professor of the guitar. He is inventor-manufacturer of modern and traditional guitar models and strings that revive the aesthetics of the instrument during its historical course and inventor of the "Mathematical model of the guitar". His theoretical studies, as well as their practical use in the instruments and strings applied to them, and his overall work, have been established as "Kertsopoulos Aesthetics". <https://kertsopoulosaesthetics.blogspot.com/>

He is the inventor of the world patented invention "Magnetic system of Three Interactions" WO2013136097A4. https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/20140617164225-27573905-magnetic-invention-wo2013136097-magnetic-system-of-three-interactions/?fbclid=IwAR3CY9Au2jQn2es7LFXlic-EVNwX7nB_oFIObbC1OuCE2RQxTnSGzy_1Uc

He is also the author of the book in English concerning the invention. https://magnapeiron.com/magnetic_devices/kertsopoulos-magnetic-devices.html

He is also the author of "Space-Time Theory" written in Greek. <https://spacetime-theory.blogspot.com/>

In 1983, he presented his "Mathematical model of the guitar" at the MUSIKMESSE in Frankfurt, a work which received international acclaim.

He has invented and constructed many different acoustical amplifiers-supports and acoustical equalizers, that amplify considerably the sound of any guitar.

His inventions in magnetism have been patented in many countries and have introduced more than 96 interactions between interacting magnetic constructions.

He has been invited as honorable speaker in many international scientific congresses, acting also as session-chair and presented his magnetic inventions with experiments.
